THE SWORD INTERVAL

BEN FLEUTER

EMERGENCY HIATUS

On September 8th, Ben and his wife Aurora had to evacuate their town due to the Oregon fires. Both of them [and their cats] are safe, but their home along with every possession they didn't carry out on their backs has burnt to the ground.

That includes Ben's office and all the art supplies and physical notes/ sketches he uses to work.

It goes without saying that The Sword Interval will be taking a hiatus until Ben and Aurora can get back on their feet. Ben hopes that can be sometime in October, and he still looks forward to finishing the series.

If you would like to support Ben and Aurora, their Sister-in-Law started a GoFundMe here:
gf.me/u/yxp8t7

Or you could support Ben on Kofi and receive desktop art as a thankyou here:
ko-fi.com/benfleuter

Lastly, Ben and Aurora's GoFundMe has surpassed its original goal, so they encourage any of you who can to consider helping those in more desperate situations than them. A general list of Oregon Fire related GoFundMes can be found here:
www.gofundme.com/c/act/oregon-fires

Thank you for your understanding.
Be kind and stay safe.

[Guest art by Natasha Tara Petrović -1000deaddraculas.com]